

Being real

There is one thing that math has taught me

To be real is to be both rational and irrational.

And there is more irrationality than rationality.

