

Is God good?

Is God good?

It's up to you to decide, if the objective world is good or evil.

If you choose to see the objective world as evil, then you will live in despair; a form of hell: "Everything and everyone is bad and against me"

*Yes, or even worse:
"I suffer and I can't do anything about it"*

If you choose to find the positive in the objective world (the good), then you get access to heaven.

"Ah... yes, life is suffering, but find a "why" and you can bear almost any "how" - if not ANY "how"."

But how can I see anything positive, when my world is changing to the worse?

Because you will still be better off looking for the positive than not looking for it.

What if I Find something positive, and then Find that I was wrong?

Then you still try to Find something positive in it - like learning From experience.

*So, I have no choice?
And how can that be good?*

*You have a choice between:
a) looking For the positive in a situation (heaven) or
b) not looking For it (hell).*

And this choice is supposed to be good?

You can try to find the positive in it or you can choose not to 😊

